

Justice for All (A Rawley Family Novel)

Kay Rawley has plans. She might be the second child of an earl, but she wants a life away from her fathers estate in New Durma. She wants a life apart from her familys name. Becoming a lawyer was a bright, shiny object she just couldnt resist grabbing. Her classes are complete, and all she has to do is pass the bar to get permanent employment at the Dallas law firm where shes been interning for the past year. Kays been on Audrick Van Burens radar since the day she walked into his classroom two years ago. That admiration only grew when she came to work for his firm. But if theres anything he recognizes, its a woman whos driven--and Kay is definitely one. Its all he can do to keep his distance and allow her the chance to come into her own. What Van doesnt know is that someone else is watching Kay, too, and if he doesnt step between them, that person might not only derail her career but threaten her very life. Things arent always what they seem, and Kays about to learn that the best laid plans are so much better when they go astray.
